Just like Philip & the Ethiopian

Over a month ago, Samantha and I were at the Soshanguve North Tshwane University of Technology (TUT) campus. We had our information table set up on the grass talking to students. While walking to the car to get something, a young man asked me if he could speak with me. He asked me a lot of questions about faith. Eventually I was able to pray with him to receive Christ. His name is Nkazimulo.

After praying with him, I invited Nkazimulo to go to church with us on Sunday. He actually did! The following day I woke up thinking I should give him the opportunity to be water baptized. So that very week we announced that a water baptism service would be held on Saturday. Eight students chose to take their faith public by being water baptized.

Before being baptized, Nkazimulo shared his testimony stating that he was like the Ethiopian and I was like Philip in Acts 8. On the day of his salvation, I had simply explained the scriptures to him. Now nothing would stop him from being baptized in water.

It's people like Nkzaimulo that make being a missionary and working with university students all worth it. Since that day, we have learned more about Nkazimulo's struggles and triumphs. We have visited his friend in the hospital and walked with him through some difficult moments. Nkaziemo is still on a journey with God, but it's exciting to watch him find the truth that sets him free.
